

ISI Inspection Schedule: The Quality of Education

Part 1: Page 5: 2.1

3: pupils' experiences are enriched by extra-curricular activities, links with the community and provision for voluntary service and work experience for those in senior schools

4: due attention is given to preparing pupils for the next stage of education, training or employment for adult life.

Message from an ISI inspector – on Step One’s Advisory Panel:

Your ISI Inspection will pay close attention to the way in which the school prepares students for the next stage in their development. Whether in higher education, in training, or in their attitude to their future adult life: re ISI Schedule Part 1, page 5 Para 4.

This is a very demanding task for an individual careers teacher or indeed the school as the range of possibilities is almost endless due to the individual talents and interests of each student. It is difficult to see a way of coping with this challenge without good back up in the form of computerised and personal diagnostic assistance.

Here it is where Step One can come to the rescue with its diagnostic programs and its enormous database of potential ways forward for the individual student. The range of programs available will assist the student, the school and the parents in reaching the right decision for each individual and in meeting the demands placed upon the school in reaching the targets set out in the ISI inspection process.

Step One provides the very best from British Independent Schools’ career and educational requirements, Cambridge Occupational Analysts and the British Psychological Society, suitably adapted to meet the needs of students in the international community. All resources are available through the latest on-line technology but embracing traditional guidance practices.
